BRIEFING Accompanied

both of OSR/NFAC, and CSS/NFAC, to a briefing of James Locher, Subcommittee on Arms Control, Senate Committee on Armed Services, staff. Locher was interested in our information on Soviet military strategy in the Pacific in the event of a conventional worldwide war. He explained that this was a part of a task force project on U.S. strategy in the Pacific. We indicated to him that we had very limited information on that subject. Nevertheless, Locher indicated he would like to have someone from the Agency take part in a seminar on the subject sometime during the last two weeks of September. He was told that we would take this up with our superiors and be back in touch with him.

LIAISON Talked to Hans Binnendijk, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, concerning his request for a briefing on the North Korean and South Korean military balance. I explained to him that a review of the North Korean military situation is underway and that we were holding up on any briefings until that review is completed. Binnendijk said he was aware of this review and had anticipated we would respond in this way. He indicated, however, that the review would be completed promptly as there are some Senators interested in this subject.

LIAISON Received a call from Kathy Cooper, in the office of Representative Les Aspin (D., Wis.), who said 13 and 14 September were not good dates for Mr. Aspin to come out to the Agency (see Journal of 5 September). She said she would have to call me later next week and give me some dates to check against the Director's calendar.

11. [REDACTED] LIAISON Jim Fellenbaum, Senate Appropriations Committee staff, called with regard to the request for approval of his Committee to proceed with rental of office space without going through the Public Works Subcommittee process. Fellenbaum was basically unhappy with the request because he says protocol requires him to write to the Public Works Subcommittee to get their approval, and this is a difficult process at best. He has asked for further justification as to why we are making the request at this time instead of earlier, why we believe going the GSA route will take so long, and what the impact will be if his Committee does not approve our request. I am in contact with the Real Estate Branch of the Office of Logistics.
